Equilibrium policy simulation with discrete models of labour supply, Ugo Colombino,
 Department of Economics and Statistics, Turin, Italy

Reading list

What follows is the list of references cited in the presentation.

The main reference is marked with (*).

Optionally:

- Those interested in the microeconomic model used in the empirical example might look at the paper marked with ().
- Those interested in the social welfare evaluation method might look at the papers marked with (*).

The other papers are general references or application of similar models.
